2022-2025 Nurses' Provincial Collective Agreement – General Wage Increases Retroactive to April 1, 2022

Employees on Long Term Disability

1. The LTD benefit for employees disabled on or after April 1, 2022 is affected if the pre-disability earnings reported at the time of the claim have changed due to a retroactive wage adjustment.

Canada Life will provide you with a list of affected employees. You can expect to receive this by August 11, 2023 if you have any impacted employees.

- Review the Employer's Statement and/or Calculation of Part-Time Earnings form(s) submitted for these employees.
 - If the reported pre-disability earnings have changed, send a revised Employer's Statement and/or Calculation of Part-Time Earnings form to Andy Mak (Andy.Mak@canadalife.com), with a copy to your Team Manager at Canada Life by September 8, 2023.
2. Employees working Rehabilitation Employment who were being paid by the employer for hours worked are affected if they receive a retroactive wage adjustment.

Canada Life has no ability to determine who these employees are and will rely on employers to determine the employees impacted.

- Review the Monthly Earnings Report While on LTD form submitted.
- If the reported rate of pay by the employer has changed, you must submit a revised Monthly Earnings Report (MER) While on LTD form to Canada Life by September 8, 2023.

Refer to the attached 'Earnings Update to Canada Life' document for detailed instructions on the MERs reporting.

3. Employees being assessed under Any Occupation are affected if they receive a retroactive wage adjustment.
 - Provide the Current Rate of Pay to Canada Life by September 8, 2023.

General Wage Increases and Earnings/Contributions Reporting

The general wage increase(s) are to be applied retroactive to April 1, 2022. Include retroactive wage adjustments in Straight Time Payroll (STP) when reporting monthly earnings and contributions in CERS.

Please forward this document to all departments within your organizations that may require and rely on this information.
